

TREE FARMERS & TEACHERS

Using Family Forests for Student Field Experiences

Wednesday, August 2, 2017 / 8:45a.m.—4:00p.m.

Join Pat Otto and Denise Buck from the Pacific Education Institute in a workshop designed to bring tree farmers and teachers together to gain the knowledge, skills and tools needed to create meaningful, high impact field experiences at local, family-owned tree farms.

This workshop will utilize Project Learning Tree (PLT) materials to assist creating pre, post, and on-site lessons that make the field experience an integrated part of a teacher's curriculum – deepening the impact.

We hope you will be a part of this day, share your knowledge and passion and help teachers impart the importance of family-owned tree farms to the next generation.
